The polo ball, the first given in Washington, will go down in the Capital's social history as one of the most brilliant events ever on its pages.

Balls have been given here for the benefit of every thing imaginable but last night's function was the bic but last night's function was the first time the smart set have danced to raise funds to purchase equipment for the War Department poloteam which, with other army teams and those from surrounding country clubs, are holding a tournament in West Potomac Park. That Wash-West Potomac Park. That Washington society comprises hundreds of polo enthusiasts was proved by the large and smart crowd that filled the New Willard Hotel ball room last evening to overflowing. Polo mallets, horse shows, polo balls and other appurtenances of the with the Stars and Stripes, service flags and other pennants, and the flags and other pennants, and the polo players in their costumes added tuch color to the scene.

Mise Garden After Great Tour Give Her Kisses Freely

CHICAGO, May 2.—Mary came home today, leading har opera troupe behind her. And they came in a blaze of glory, because Mary Garden has just led the Chicago Opera Company through the most successful national tour in the history of any company.

As Mary hopped from the steps of her private car and received and returned a hug and a kiss from Harold F. McCormick, guardian angel of Chicago opera, she admitted that the tour had been a "riot."

Whatever Mary's record for tem-

Whatever Mary's record for tem-perament has been in the past, it was forgotten in today's enthusi-astic welcome. She showered her favors and her kisses impartially. Her farewell to two timorous chorus girls, who hung behind the others to say good-bye was quite dramatic. dramatic.

She was as usual a swagger Mary. When she appeared, carrying a walking stick whose only distinguishing feature was its carved handle of a dog's head, and wrapped in the folds of her black diversers and squirrel wrap, she duvetyn and squirrel wrap, she looked as if she might have stepped, from a shop window. In four performances, in three of which she was the star of the opera, all records were broken for box-office receipts.

Asked if she liked Bill Hart, on whom she was reported as having quite a crush

"Like him? My love—I adore him!" was the reply.
